The assault with firearms killings in the Paducah, KY high school last week is tragic. Three young teenage girls were killed, another paralyzed, several other wounded and a 14 year old boy has ruined his life and left scars on untold numbers of adults and other youngsters. Death is a shock, but even greater when it is the senseless death of a young person with a whole life ahead of him or her. Try as we might, it is impossible to fully understand how anyone could do such a thing. These kids were apparently doing nothing to harm anyone, in fact were the kind of children anyone would dream of having - good kids, involved as leaders and examples for their peers, etc. There have been, and continue to be a lot of theories on "why the boy did the shooting." We have our own ideas. This kid was unable to separate his computer games from reality. He played the games today and tomorrow could start over with the same players, just as if nothing had happened. We suspect something was not right in his brain, and/or he was obsessed

The death of these kids has bothered us. Last week we caught part of the funeral of the three girls live on CNN. Watching the participation of the community and their fellow classmates was gut wrenching, to say the least. We somewhat disagree with the first minister however. He said the girls left a void. We don't think so. Those girls were shining examples for youths everywhere. Yes they are dead, but the memories their families and friends are left with are enormous, as are the pictures the rest of us have of them and the others in that small group of students going about their lives in that one high school. Their families should find comfort in the fact those girls ... their children, found a way to openly, and legally, conduct their prayers in school, while here in Alabama, we look to our greatest leaders who can only hold press conferences and argue in court.

Now, enough of that. The rescheduled Elba Christmas Festival is this Saturday, there is some rain predicted this week, but maybe it will rain out before Saturday. The organizers of this event have put a lot of effort into planning it - twice. It is the Southern thing to do for us to come out Saturday and show our appreciation for their tireless efforts.

El Nino is coming, signs are already here. California folks are getting hit by the bad weather this week. We urge anyone who is in a potential flood area to be sure they have flood insurance. While the ravages of the odd weather may not cause us any undue harm, can you afford to take the chance? The government bailed out a lot of folks in 1990 and some again in 1994, but keeps warning us that one day they are going to turn the other way because we failed to buy the available insurance

My Second Wish: Help us to realize that as parents everything we do is modeling. That's the way chil-dren learn. Much more than words, our actions teach children. For we know that values come closer to being caught than taught. No, this does not mean we have to be perfect.

Children tend to model our general behavior, not our lapses. Besides, if our children see us as imperfect and

PASTOR'S CORNER Rev. Danny Maddox Whitewater Baptist Church

I find as I talk with people that these are the things most people are looking for in their lives. How can we receive these wonderful gifts? Jesus Christ said on one occasion, "Give and it shall be given unto thee" (Luke 6:38). I would assume that He was saying IF we express love, joy and kindness then we can expect to receive the same in return. Paul the apostle said it this way, "You shall reap what you sow . . ." (Galatians 6:7). What did he mean by that? Well, let me try to explain it this way. If a farmer plants peanuts he will reap peanuts, not cotton. If we are sowing love, joy and kindness then we will receive love, joy and kindness. There are so many who would just like to know they are loved. If we will let them know that, then they can have joy in their lives. If we show kindness to them they will feel better about themselves.

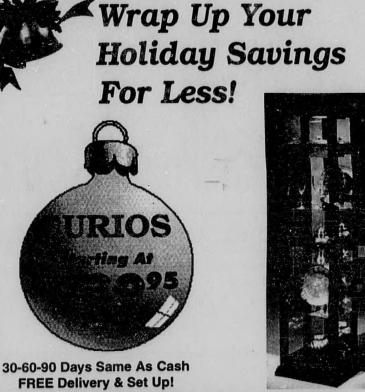

I truly believe as we give and receive our material presents AND love, joy and kindness, all of us will enjoy a more wonderful Christmas. Remember to keep Christ in Christmas, love God and your neighbors and go to Church each Sunday during December.

SGA Hat Day

On Tuesday, November 25, 1997, the Student Government Association spon-sored a hat day. Students paid one dollar for a ribbon to pin on their hats. If the student did not have a ribbon, he could not wear a hat. This activity was not only a fun activity for students, but also an excellent fund raiser for the SGA.

Practice has definitely paid off for the Elba Basketball Tigers. On November 18, the Varsity Boys, Varsity Girls, and B-Team had successful victories over win, 30-28.

Congratulations to the Basketball Tigers!! They are definitely off to a great start! Go Tigers!

On Wednesday, November 12, Weather Classroom visited Mrs. Shirlon Dye's fourth-grade class. Mitch English, a weather anchor from WTVY, came to share information and to discuss weather patterns and severe weather.

They also discussed the different kinds of precipitation and when they occur.

Mrs. Dye's fourth grade class really enjoyed Mr. English's bizarre and hilarious ways of discussing the weather. This was a great experience and they welcome him to come back again!

We did a little Christmas shopping over the weekend and the girls just couldn't wait to wrap the presents and get them under the tree. Dad doesn't do a very good job of wrapping, so the girls took turns wrapping each other's gifts, and they did let Dad pick out the color of the bows. Hey, it's get-

Scanning The Dial In Sports

The Elba Tigers saw their record move to 4-1 last week with wins over Goshen and Opp, and an upset loss to Zion Chapel. The Tigers played their best ball of the season in the wins over Goshen and Opp, and showed all Elba fans that the Tigers will be a team to reckon with as the season rolls along. Junior point-guard Eric Jordan stepped up in all three games and is turning into a solid player, while the rest of the team also stepped it up a notch in Friday night's win over Opp and really gave it 110 percent in getting the tough road win. There is still a lot of basketball left this season; however, Coach Marlon Johnston has the Elba fans excited about basketball and everyone hopes the best is yet to come.

The high school football playoffs are now in the championship round, and for the first time in many years there is only one defending state champ around to try and repeat. Blount clubbed previously undefeated Sy the taller Eagles in the early going and led only 10-6 after one quarter, then saw Goshen go on a 6-0 run to the half, and never threatened in lacauga 35-7 to punch its ticket to the "Super Six," but in the other five classes there are new faces around fighting to get a state championship tro-phy. Probably the biggest surprise comes in 6A, where Benjamin Russell claimed its fourth straight upset win to advance and battle Tuscaloosa County, which was the runner-up in its area. The best game? It has to be in ond quarter to put Elba back on top County, which was the runner-up in its area. The best game? It has to be in the 5A ranks, where Blount will defend its crown against powerful Etowah.

It should be an exciting three days for everyone involved.

The area basketball teams are well into their basketball seasons, and while none of the teams are off to a fast start, all three county teams are improving and should be headed for solid seasons. New Brockton moved its early in the third quarter; however, slate to 4-3 last week and has as much quickness and desire as any team around, while Zion Chapel has a team that gives it all it has every single minute and will win a bunch of games, and Kinston will win despite the loss of 6'8" center Allen Bowdoin with a broken arm. It is going to be a fun season to be a fan, so, go watch a game when you get a chance.

I watched the SEC championship game Saturday night and was amazed that Tennessee could win despite turning the ball over six times. The Vols had a good team and may very well deserve the conference title, but Saturday night they played like they were in awe of the setting, and Auburn's aggressive defense almost made enough plays to pull off the win. I know the Auburn fans are disappointed, but the Tigers battled until theend and had a very good season.

Elba Lady Tiger Lindsey Jared (20) dribbles up court in the Lady Tigers win over Zion Chapel. The Lady Tigers own a 2-5 record after three weeks of basketball action.

Opp stretched its lead to 36-30 by the end of the half and appeared to be in command; however, Elba staged a rally of its own and behind the play of Eric Jordan and Marcus Silar cut the Bobcats' lead to 49-47 with one quarter left to play.

Elba continued to battle the Bobcats throughout the final stanza and forced the game into overtime, where Johnny Coleman hit a short jumper with :03 left to give the Tigers the exciting 71-69 win. Marcus Silar scored 19 points to lead Elba, while Eric Jordan added 15 and Johnny Coleman and Tim Ware both scored 12. Vincinni Smith scored 19 to lead Opp.

lous soup kitchens, often joined b parents and siblings. Then came World War II, and our cup was really filled to overflowing. After cruis ing the beautiful waters near Hawaii in that great big canoe club called the U.S. Navy and seeing many fireworks, day and night, many of us got to see the "Great Fireworks" display provided by the Japanese on Dec. 7, 1941. We had a chance to bask o the beaches of Guadalcanal, Tarawa, Saipan, Leyte, Iwo Jima and Okinawa. We had the chance to visit the capitals of Europe and visit such scenic spots as Bastogne and Monte Cassino. One of the most exhilarating strolls was from Bataan to the fa mous Japanese resorts, laughingly referred to as death camps. The good times really rolled for those lucky enough to be on the beaches of Normandy for boating and swimming on stead of asking "what can you do fo your country," an indulgent government let us fritter away our youth ingles of Burma, New Guinea and the Solomons. Yes, it's all true. We are pampered and spoiled rotten. We never did learn what sacrifice meant. My generation is old, President Clinton. Please continue to punish us for our failings so we might learn the true meaning of "duty, honor and country," and love for our creator. (Editor's Note: This was forwarded
